Taste Test

This could take a couple of hours or all day depending on how seriously you take your Whoopie Pies!

The Juniata River Valley loves whoopie pies and you can find them in many family-owned grocery stores, delis and produce stands. But don't assume that the store you're buying that whoopie pie in actually baked it. There are many professional home bakers in our area that provide whoopie pies on a wholesale level. And just as family recipes vary, so do recipes for whoopie pies. And therein lies the competition!

Whether you're looking for a fun way to fill an afternoon, are curious about the many nuances of whoopie pies, or are just willing to follow your sweet tooth anywhere, a Whoopie Pie Taste Test is in order!

Step One

Explore Mifflin and Juniata Counties

while searching for the whoopie pies you'll taste test later. The number you buy is up to you, as is the variety of flavors. For serious tasters, we recommend testing the chocolate cake with white filling—it's The Classic. But to experience it all, you should not leave out the wide selection of flavors available including pumpkin, peanut butter, chocolate chip, vanilla, oatmeal, coconut, red velvet, gingerbread, banana and spice cake—although they may not be available at every location. The list on this page and/or the link on our website to a Google Map will get you started. This is just the beginning. Keep your eyes open as you traverse the roads of the Juniata River Valley. Seasonal produce stands are likely sources, too!

Step Two

Decide how seriously you want to handle this. A blind taste test will be as impartial as possible but you'll need an "administrator" to set it up and tally the results. No matter how you handle it, be sure you have enough cold milk on hand for everyone!

Look for Whoopie Pies in these and many, many more locations all over the Juniata River Valley.
